Meet Northeast . . .

. . . with its familiar halls and classrooms, its welcome atmosphere, its cafeteria and playroom where a thousand personalities meet every day.

. . . with its teachers and students molded into a spirit of friendliness, harmony, and association, its classes and clubs with philosophies of democracy and independent action.

. . . with its pep rallies displaying the vitality of eager fans, its convocations exhibiting talent, competence, and ability in all spheres of activity.

. . . with its spirits of pride, modesty; pre-eminence, humbleness.

. . . with its inviting challenge in sports, music, drama, journalism.

. . . with its calm, deliberate initiative as a leader. . .

. . . meet Northeast

ADMINISTRATION

Dear Carolyn
Best of luck always to a real nice girl.
Remember the times
we would laugh
in the halls.

A beacon is a guiding light

That throws a knowing gleam;

It reminds us of our teachers,

'Cause they're really on the beam.

But I wish always to be a cute girl.

BOARD OF CONTROL

Board of Education members are prominent Lincoln business men and women who are interested in the public schools and have been elected to direct the administration on important matters.

Regular meetings of the school board members are held in the Public School Administration building at 720 South 22nd street. At these meetings the board makes final decisions on all matters concerning the Lincoln schools.

Under the leadership of Robert C. Venner, president, the Board of Education administers finances, chooses new text books, regulates reports to parents, and discusses teacher-welfare.

GUIDING YOUTH

Julius Humann
Mabel Thompson
Francis Rezek

Robin S. Mickle

Teaching school from 8:40 to 3:15 is only part of the duties of a high school teacher.

By sponsoring clubs and organizations; chaperoning parties and out of town bus trips; supervising class activities; art, music, journalism, and debate, the teachers donate their time to make it possible for students to enjoy the extra-curricular activities that are provided for them. Serving on teacher's association committees fills up the rest of their time.

Robin S. Mickle heads the administrative staff as principal. He is assisted by Julius Humann and Mrs. Mable Thompson as boys' and girls' counselors. Mr. Humann instructs the senior high leadership class.

Francis Rezek is principal of the junior high. He counsels the junior high leadership class.

Planning for participation of students in county government day are social studies teachers Mrs. Jane Bean, Mrs. Sue Worrall, and Miss Elizabeth Shaver.

Reading a health magazine are William Grossoehme, biological science; Ellis Jeffery, science; Mrs. Eloise Lockwood, school nurse, and Mrs. Evelyn Lavaty, physiology.

Displaying projects collected during their study of Indians are these second and third grade child center students.

SENIORS

Like headlights on a car,

The seniors lead the rest;

They lead the way, and light the road

And do their level best.

Seniors at last, we the class of 1950 stop to recall the events which have highlighted our lives for six wonderful years. Our initial year at Northeast was spent in wonderment at the newness of the situation, and in making friends with whom we would associate throughout high school.

The eighth grade quickly passed while we settled into the swing of things at Northeast. At the end of the ninth grade we were at long last promoted to senior high. Our sophomore year was chuck full of thrilling activities so new to us. Planning our first dance, electing class officers, joining organizations, and many other things were still ahead of us.

As eleventh graders we took great pride in planning the junior-senior banquet which was held at Cotner Terrace. This also was the year we will always remember for it was the first time our basketball team was state champion.

Now, at the height of knowledge, we seniors sit back and permit the junior class to entertain us at the junior-senior banquet. Suddenly comes senior sneak day, baccalaureate, and graduation—the goal of these six years. As we walk down the aisle at graduation, these years are being reviewed in the heart of each senior. We'll remember these years at Northeast with all their teachers, friends, and athletics with pleasure, as we leave high school and look toward the future, and we'll always recall the happy times we've had at Northeast.

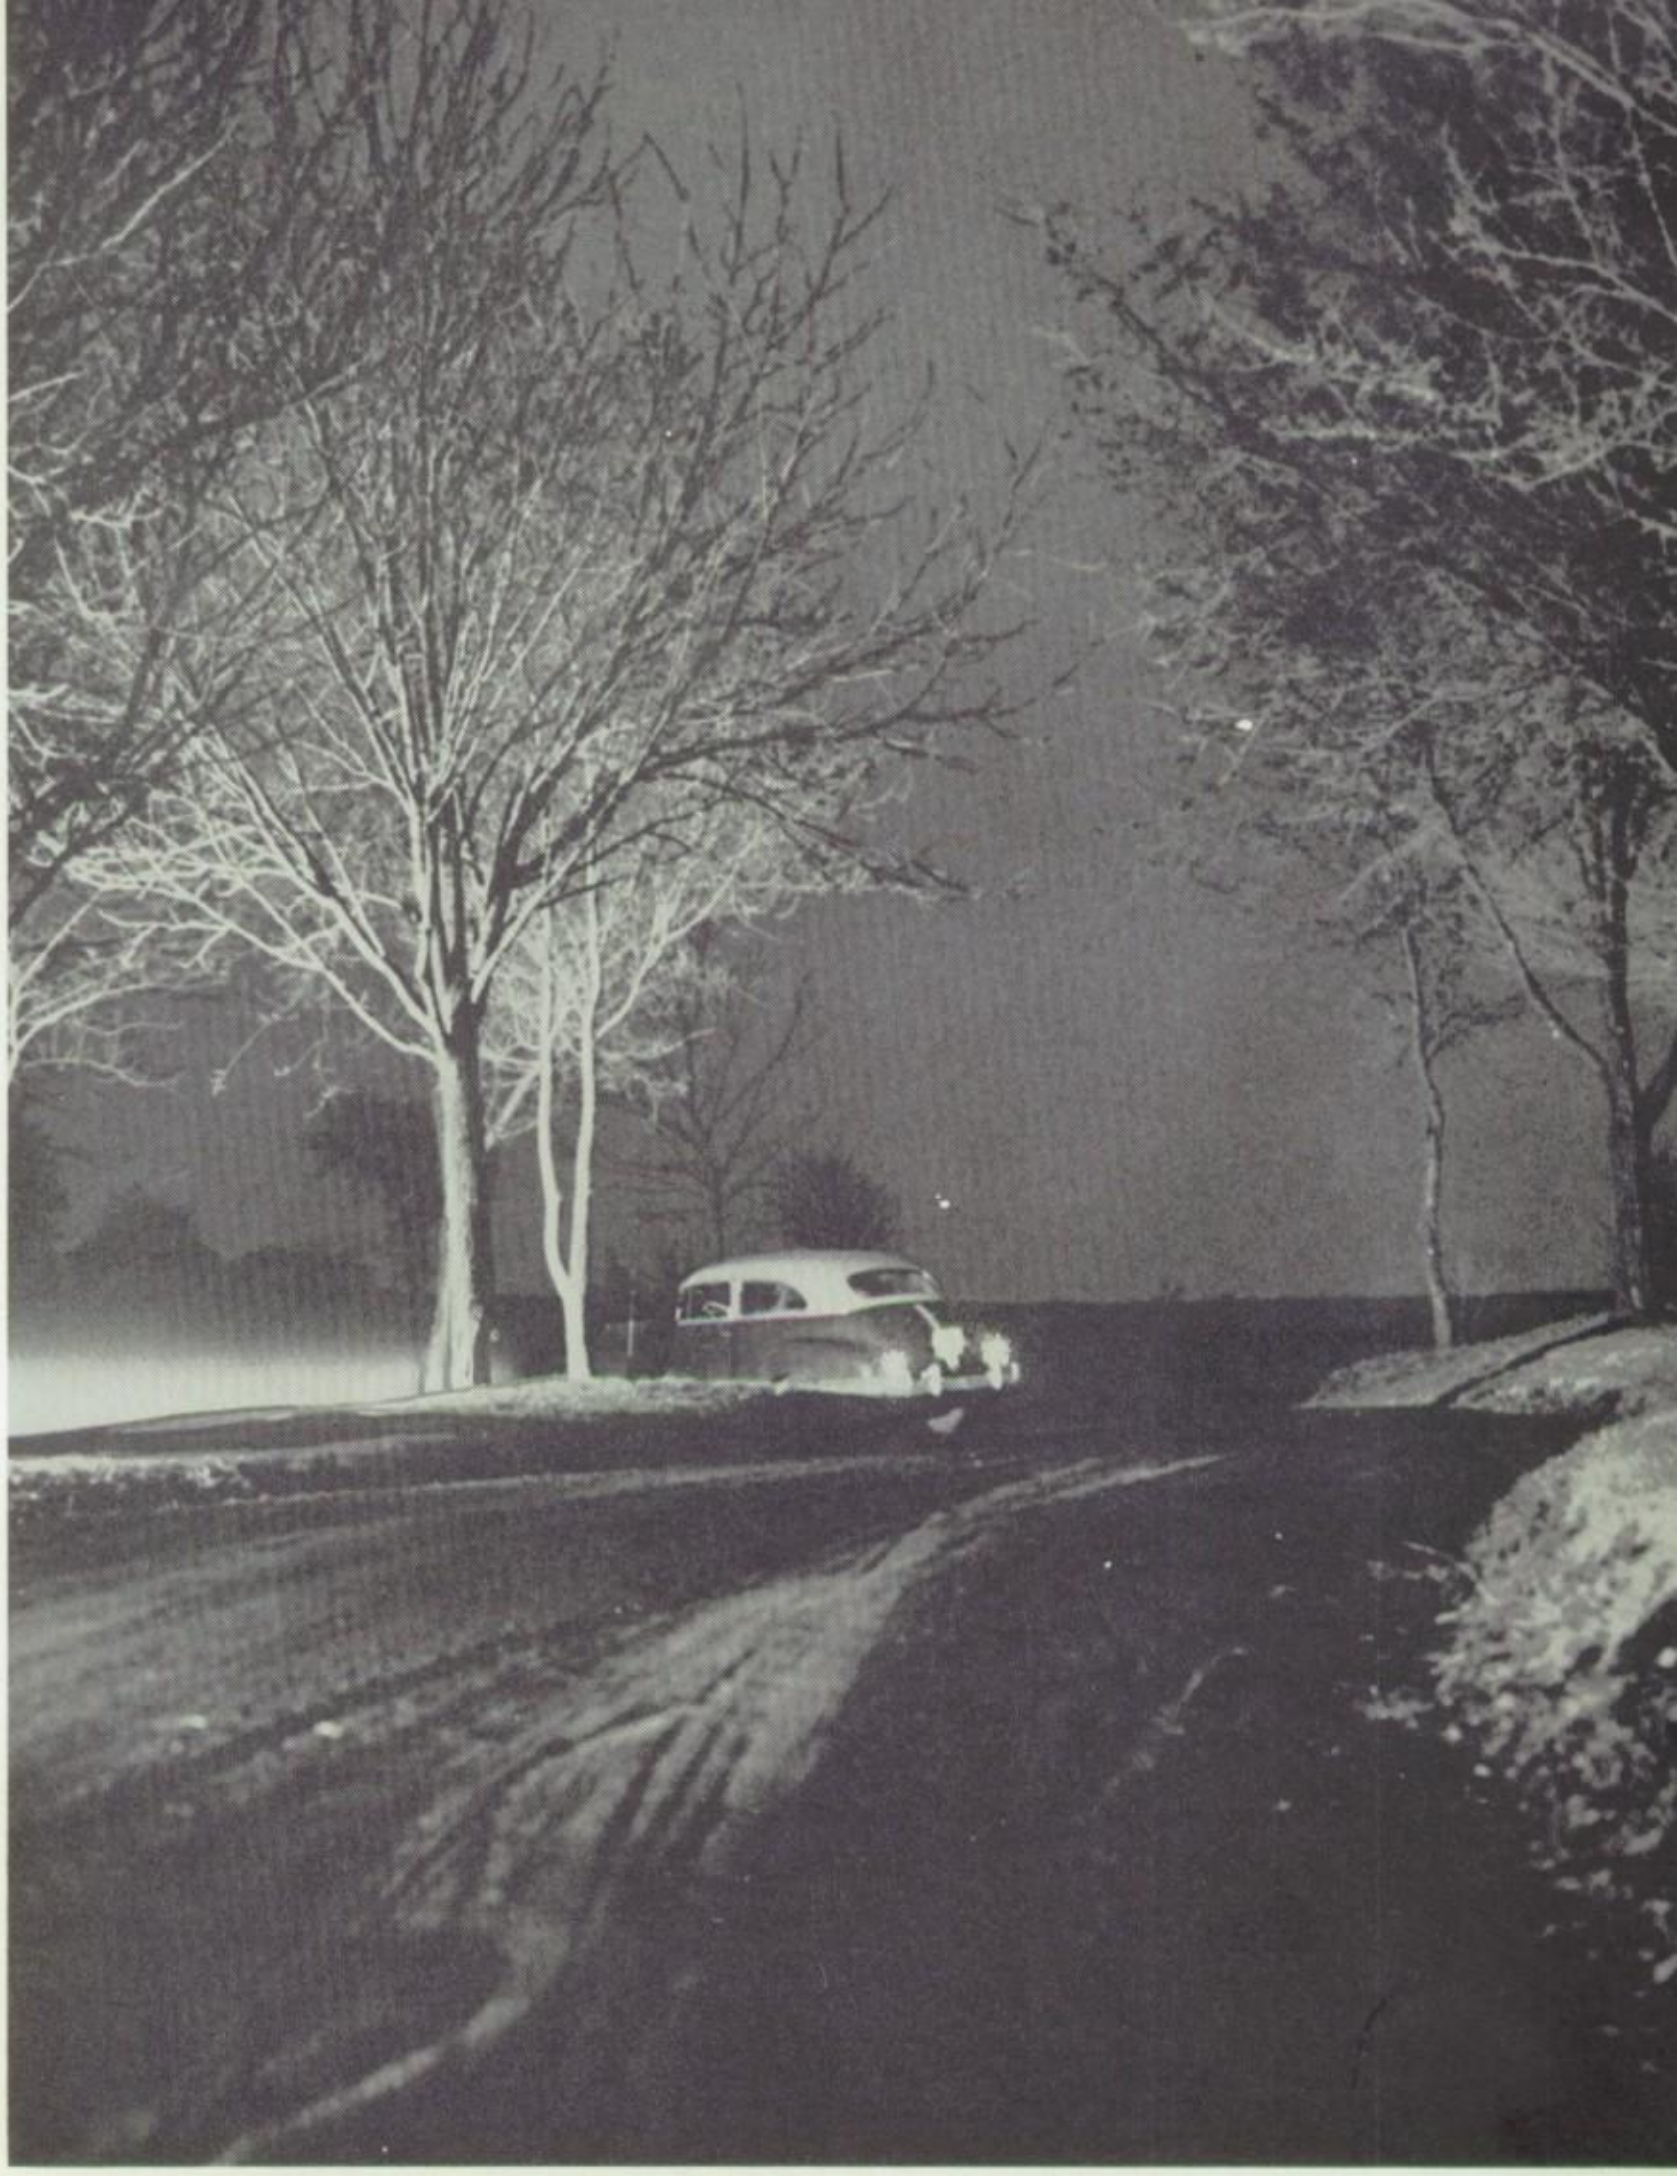
CLASSES

The future seems so far away,

Few winnings can it mark;

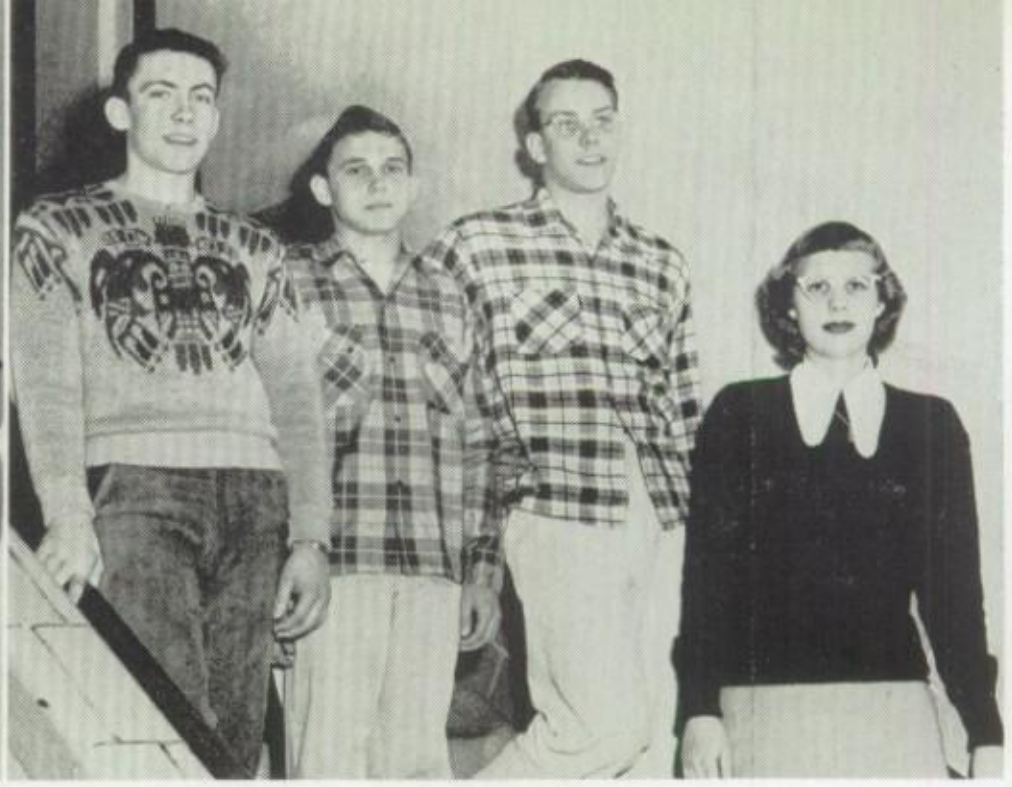
The underclassmen are okay,

They're the tail lights in the dark.



LIGHTS

Talking over events are first semester officers, Nancy Brown, treasurer; John Harper, secretary; Jerry Mohler, president; and Jack Mason, vice president.



Pausing on the stairs are second semester junior officers, Jim Cederdahl, president; Marvin Deal, vice president; James Bare, secretary; and Jean Sandstedt, treasurer.

ON THE WAY

Led by Jerry Mohler, as president first semester, and Jim Cederdahl, second semester, the juniors took an active part in this year's activities, such as student leadership, Y-Teens, Hi-Y, journalism and annual staff, athletics and dramatics.

The Junior-Senior banquet and prom was held in May at Cotner Terrace. The success of this all-important event was due to the extensive planning and preparation by the juniors as a whole.

Discussing their American history assignments are Dale Hutchins, Gene Steele, Frances Leacock, Elaine Armstrong, and Wayne Taylor.

Handing in the week's budget are Joan Spencer and Norma Magnuson while Fred Brown and Patty Matthews look over next week's lesson.

Pointing out the Great Lakes to Marilyn Peirce, Marilyn Pelikan, and Shirley Eisenbarth is Rosemary Paul.

Beverly Wood and Norma Swartzleonard begin dictating their shorthand assignment, as Alyce Horton, Alice Westling, Delores Jones, and Charlotte Murphy prepare to write, and Elvira Whyman tries her luck on the board.

As Don Montgomery, Jack Mowery, Jean Sandstedt, and Lometa Standley watch, Jacquelyn Pickett starts a poster.

As Nancy Brown and Janice Hinds look at a book; Leone Spencer and Jill Caddy study the globe, and Glen Churchill reads a paper.

Biology students Jeanette Selk, Betty Richards, Lawrence Smith, and Tom McGrath are studying fish life in an aquarium.

Looking over a recent edition of The Northeastern are John Harper, Pat Milton, and Berne Rosenquist.

Julie McCutchan waits for Arlene Gustafson to find her health card as Jim Shaw is weighed by David Brand. Helping is Walter Garner.

Busy studying history are Beverly Finke, Dorothy Cammel, Opal Chase, Mary Del Gudgel, and Dick Morrisey.

Assuming the leadership of the sophmore class second semester are Allan Holbert, president; Carol Garlow, secretary; Sara Whitlock, vice president; and Irvin Sharp, treasurer.

STARTING OUT

Beginning the journey through senior high, 209 sophomores spent a busy year in getting acquainted with the various curricular and extra-curricular activities in senior high. These energetic underclassmen added much to the progress of the school, not only in school work but also in the outside organizations.

Electing for the first time second semester, after students entering from other junior highs had become better acquainted with the Northeast students, the class chose Allan Holbert to lead their activities and Sara Whitlock to assist him as vice president.

Creating additions to their wardrobes in home economics are, standing: Donna Miller, Mildred Cramer, Marolyn Davidson, and Janice Gallatin. Seated at work are: Alma Womack, Darlene Scott, Carolyn Lux, and Carol Bryant.

Taking care of junior high business are first semester leadership officers, Patty Lewis, secretary-treasurer; Don Rich, vice president; and Jim Haberlan, president; with sponsor Francis Rezek.

Discussing junior high activities and problems are these second semester junior high leadership executives: David Lipscomb, president; Roscoe Hill, vice president; and Marlene Rosenberger, secretary-treasurer.

THE MAKING OF LEADERS

The center of activity in the junior high is the leadership class, composed of representatives from the junior high homerooms, directed by Francis I. Rezek. Presidents for the year were Jim Haberlan, first semester, and David Lipscomb, second semester. The leadership class arranged all junior high assemblies and did hall monitor duty during the noon hour.

A few of the projects participated in by the students were junior high Spotlights, the Rocketeers, and the Stamp club. Junior high civic league trips enabled the students to examine the city's business houses, hospitals, and libraries.

Looking along the line of music, sports, and scholarship, one may find the future leaders of Northeast.

Stamp Club

First row, left to right: D. Lipscomb, standing, L. Delaney, R. Hill, D. Rich, G. Foster, S. Powell, P. Lewis, M. Rich, M. Rosenberger.

Second row: J. Rhoden, P. Reid, J. Hide, M. McClure, J. Ballard, S. McVey, J. Holmes, S. Albury, K. Packett, B. Gruber, P. Bickford, E. Pfeifer, R. Steele, D. Anderson, E. Ericsen, B. Owen.

LIGHTS

"To move or not to move," that is the question. Busy, playing chess that is, are two hall monitors, Bill Kroon and Noel Jones.

Hooray!! We're winnin' yet . . . the city football championship to be exact, boys. For the first time since the contest originated nine years ago, Northeast snatched the city crown away from Lincoln Central.

THESE MOMENTS

Never a dull moment at Northeast—the extra-curricular social activities keep the students, as well as members of the faculty, always anticipating, planning, or taking part in a coming school event.

The assemblies, which are always a welcome change to break the monotony of textbooks and test tubes, are carefully planned by the students and faculty, working together to provide entertainment for you who are a part of Northeast.

Variety adds spice to assemblies, and so during the 1949-1950 school year the schedule included speakers, junior and senior high Rocket Spotlights, the exchange assembly from Lincoln high, the Christmas and Easter programs—and, let's not forget, the pep rallies. The students possessed an enormous amount of spirit and both the football and basketball teams came through with flying colors.

The twenty-one clubs and organizations of Northeast high are ever busy sponsoring various activities, such as movies, carnivals, picnics, and dances.

Two all-school plays, "Lost Horizon" and "Tish," were presented by casts chosen from the student body and were under the direction of Mrs. Elizabeth Reeder, instructor of the speech and dramatics department.

"In Old St. Louis," an operetta given by Northeast's vocal music department, was under the direction of Mrs. Velma Snook. Music was provided by the orchestra directed by Harold Davis, and Gerald Johnston, with the commercial art department, supplied the settings.

Of prime importance are the many dances held at Northeast during the Eating, doing homework, and just talking seem to be the main occupations 'bout that time of the day down in "Ye Olde Cafeteria."

"All prisoners present and accounted for; back to your cells!" So, another day, and the Northeast institution is filled to capacity.

WE REMEMBER

school year. The football banquet and basketball alumni dance close these two sports seasons with all food and dance-loving persons attending.

Highlighting these two occasions is the presentation of the queen, her attendants and the honorary co-captains, all of which are chosen by the teams.

Something different in the form of a jeans dance was made possible by the Rocket staff, and it was held in the playroom in an October atmosphere of corn stalks and pumpkins.

The Turnabout dance is sponsored by the Pep club and is an opportune time at which the girl may take out a boy of her choice. The King of Hearts is selected from four candidates chosen by the Pep club and voted on by the girls in attendance at the dance.

The traditional junior-senior prom, sponsored by the junior class, closes a year of social events in one wonderful evening of formal dress, eating, and dancing.

The month of May is indeed merry—and beautiful at Northeast. During this month the traditional May Fete is held and the May beauties reign over an afternoon of fun and festivities. The May queen, a senior girl who must meet certain scholastic and health requirements and is chosen by vote of her classmates, is crowned.

A May princess chosen from the ninth grade, four attendants from each senior high grade and two from each junior high grade are also elected for the honorary positions for that day.

The program includes dances and athletic performances as well as the May Pole dance by the Child Center pupils.

Displaying the regal grace by which they acquired candidacy for King of Hearts are "Stubby" Seng, LaVerne Holscher, Gerald Bingham, and "Juice" Lemon.

Safety First . . . not the school motto, but a movie being shown to a group of interested "safety hazards."

Three hits and a miss . . . but not the least bit concerned about anything but journalistic interests are Phyllis Schock, Lane "Skip" Westmoreland, Bill Daily, and Gary Clifford.

Enjoying themselves at a party after a busy day of teaching are several Northeast tutors.

"Happy birthday to you" is chorused through the cafeteria, and this occasion calls for cake and song in honor of one aging Barbara Crowe.

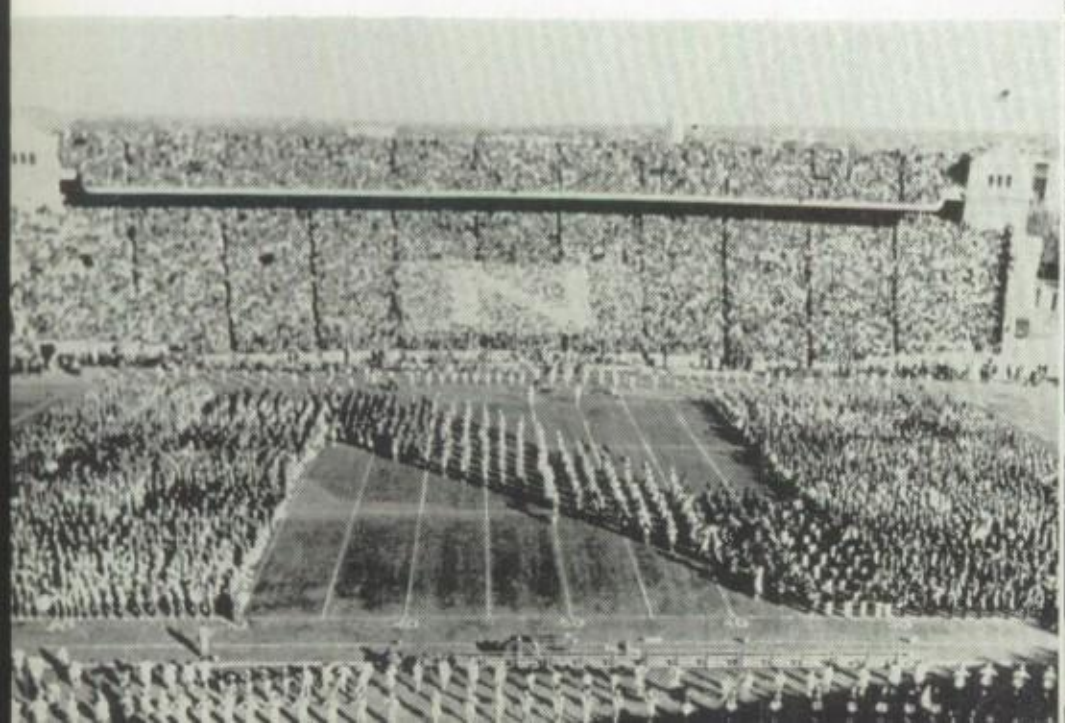
Duh—let me see now, that just don't look right tuh me——nope, it just don't look right.

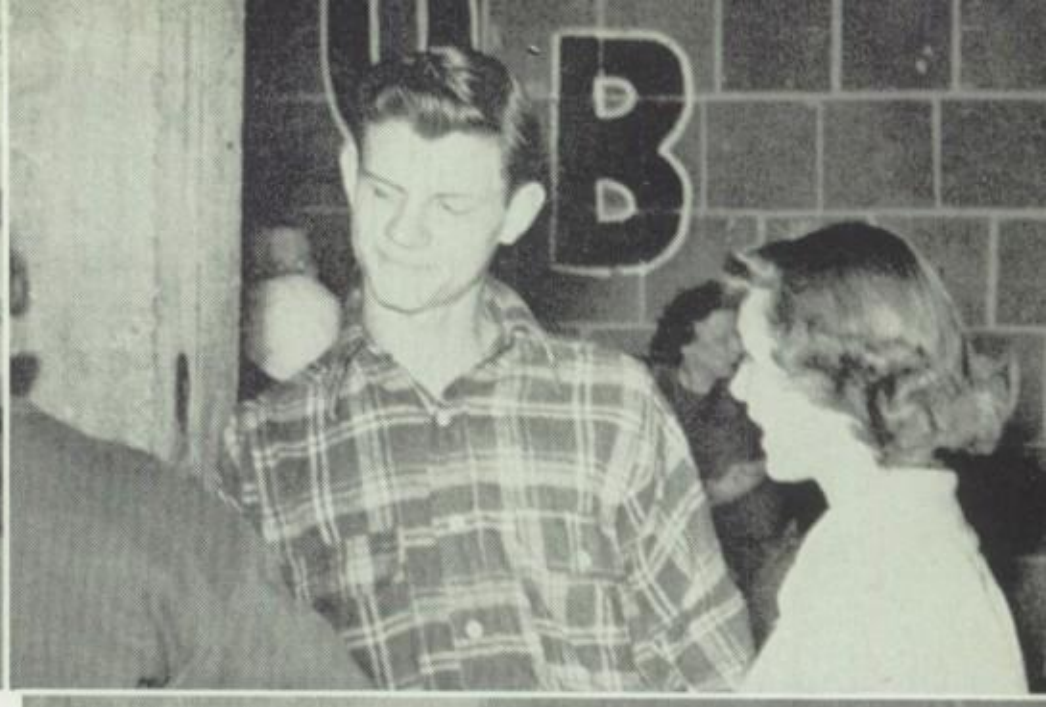
Struttin' its stuff is the Northeast Rocket band in the forty-nine Christmas parade which took place on downtown "O" street.

Oh, I've got a lovely (?) bunch of coconuts—there they are all standin' in a row.

Northeast, with approximately fifty other bands, assembled on Band day at the Nebraska stadium with a colorful demonstration.

Game—Grand Island vs. Northeast.
Score—19-17 at the half after Northeast took their first lead in the game; the picture tells the story.

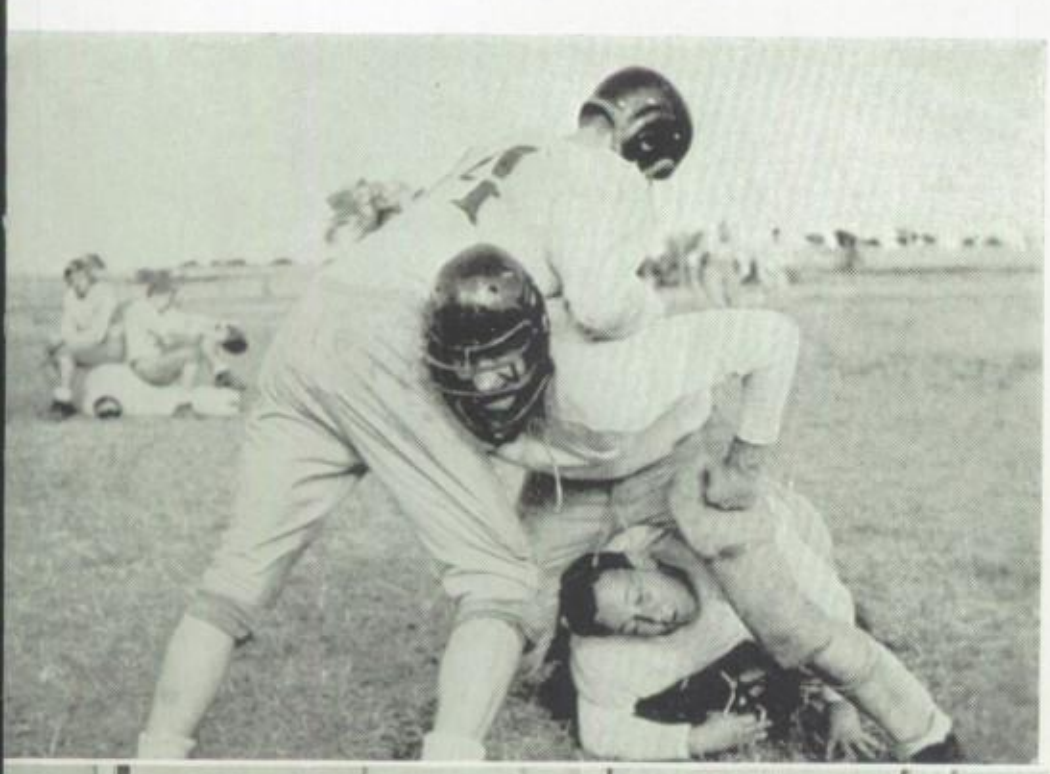




Which one of the Ford players is this?!! This member can be identified by a blue jacket bearing the name "O'Shea Rogers."

"Ahh, I don't know—her legs aren't so bad," comments Rich Grell as Bobbie Blackburn stands prepared for a debate.

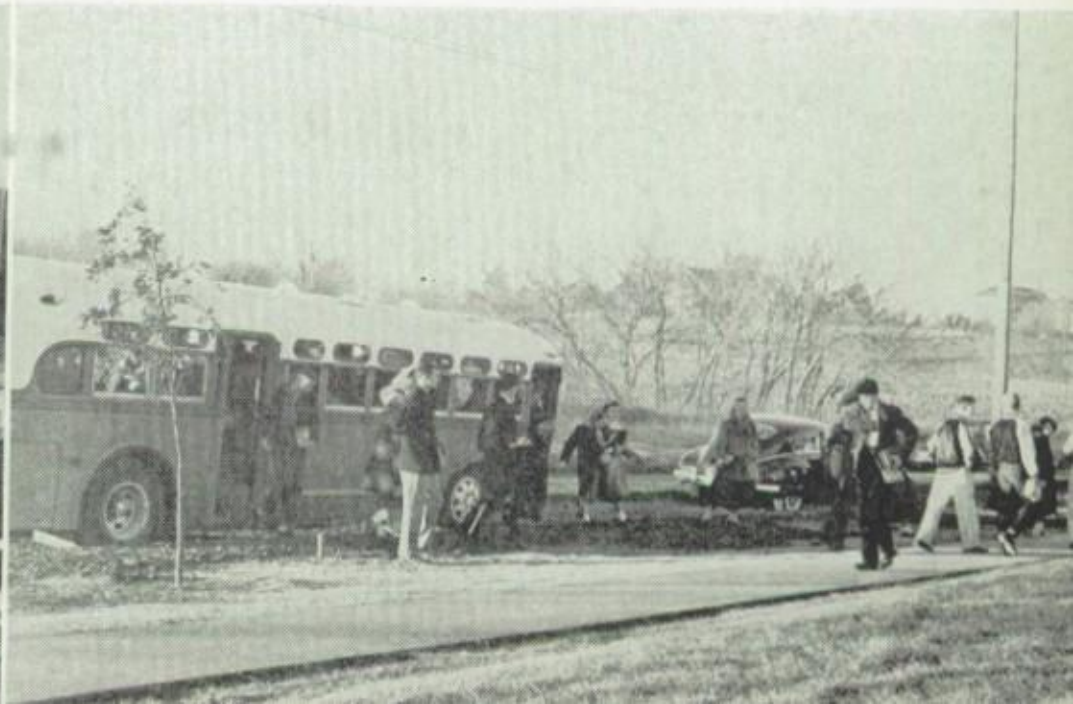
Sarah Bigsby, Federalist, campaigns at a rally before the students go to the polls to vote. Harvey Goth awaits his turn with a look of grim determination.



"Just a minute, boys, I lost me money outa' me pocket."

Do you daydream? Do your ears ring—like a telephone? Do you have tattered typing fingers? Moral of this story—Do not work in an office.

Cecil, you're headed the wrong way. "Yeah, and I'm gettin' my gat just in case somebody tries to stop me."



Hail!! Der kink he iss crowned! Pep club prexy Kay Young crowns "Juice" Lemon 1950 King of Hearts.

Winners of the most original and the prettiest corsages at the annual Turnabout dance are Leon Lehr and Duane Rankin with the originators, Renee' Kruse and Bev Tracy.

Drinks are on the house! Boy, this ole' cafeteria has everything!!

"Cheer, cheer for old Northeast high." Staunch supporters of the Northeast Rockets are the members of the band.

"Ugh!! Me high Lama." Ron Becker, Roger Brehm, Lometa Stanley, and Ronnie Trombla in a behind-the-scenes shot of the play, "Lost Horizon."

Presenting an assembly are the Northeast Rocket staff starring Brenda and Cobina, the "chicks."

Tom Freet and Harvey Goth are the elected honorary co-captains of the 1949 football squad, state runners-up team.

Shirley DeShayes, attendant; Barbara Crowe, queen; and Renee Kruse, attendant, reign over festivities at the annual Football banquet held at Cotner Terrace.

Food being one of the highlights of the Football banquet, Keith Smith, Howard Meyer, Gene Thompson, Shirley Cole, Phyllis Schock, Ron DeBord, and Jim Wadlow enjoy themselves while waiting to be served.

Eating at Spencer's Steak House before the Basketball Alumni dance are Shirley Dewey and Jim Gekas.

Basketball co-captains of the '50 state championship team are Jack Wood and "Stubby" Seng.

Basketball queen Marilyn Paddack and attendants, Berdine Srb and Kay Young, are entertained by alums during intermission at the basketball dance.

Daa—a Rockette skit, no less.

Almost as popular as food at lunchtime is the playroom to most Northeast students.

Oops—slipped!!! Wayne Taylor takes over in the kitchen on Turnabout eve.

"Happy Birthday, Fran!!" sing Mary Lou, Mary Ann, Barb, and Renee on a bus trip.

"Looking for dessert, maybe? Or wasn't your dinner very good, Juice?'

"Poor lil' Duane (Speidell). Was Mr. Human naughty to you?"

"Come up and see me sometime, big boy," says "Babe" Cederdahl to "Smootho" Smith, who loses control of his club and knocks the haid-piece clean off of Missus Rocky Bybaby. "Stripes" Freet has just ended a search for his long lost cell-mate who chases dirty rats from his abode.

PICTURES WE THREW AWAY

As every book has its good points, it must also have some poor ones. With this annual it's vice versa. However, don't be discouraged, the rest of this annual doesn't follow the pattern of this page.

1. A bunch of dead-end kids, no less, probably planning to stuff the ballot box.

2. What're you looking so smug about? We all know there's no such person as "Santa Claus"—is there??

3. "If 'oo boys don't pay some attention to me I'm gonna cwy!" (Aw, cheer up, Jack, the boys love ya'.)

4. "Aaa—sez you, Ackerman—give it ta me or I'll knock a hole in yer fat lil' head."

5. "Ooo—a nice, warm, wooly shirt!!—And I just love wooly shirts!"

6. "Yeah, big boy—place your dough on "Gloofac Tory"—He's a sure bet."

7. Don't look so down-hearted, boys. In a few seconds Hopalong will come flashing in and save that beautiful babe from Two-Gun Pete, the one-armed bandit.

8. Those two sweet little smiles are on the innocent faces of—yup—the Mohler twins, Jo and Jerry.

9. "Aw shucks, I'm tired Jo, les go home."

10. "Yeah, I'm purty tough, see? The first kid who spills ice cream on the floor will get a chance to mop up the floor with his hair, see?"

I DISAGREE!

The year of 1949-50 was the fourth year in the history of debate at Northeast, and the work of the squad upheld the high traditions established by the Northeast debators who have come, argued, and gone.

A pre-season practice was held at Malvern, Iowa, on November 5. The season opened at Omaha Tech high where Northeast's first team was undefeated. At Grand Island, the team won four out of five debates. Other tournaments attended were at Doane College, Hastings, Omaha Central, and University of Nebraska.

Under the careful coaching of Mrs. Reeder, Northeast had a very successful debate year.

WORTHWHILE LIVING

"To create, maintain, and extend high standards of Christian character through the school and community," is the general goal set before the Northeast Hi-Y. Their creed is clean speech, sports, living, and scholarship. Through a courtesy committee this organization extends the hospitality of Northeast to newcomers and visitors by familiarizing them with the school.

Under the leadership of LeRoy Seng and Jack Wood the club participated in many worth while activities. Max Hester and Phil Smith served as sponsors. Representatives attended the annual Hi-Y—Y-Teen conference held in Omaha in February.

Leading Hi-Y for the first semester was LeRoy Seng. He was assisted by George Stephens, vice president, and Dale Lemon, secretary-treasurer.

Heading the Hi-Y for the second semester were Jack Wood, president; Bill Bowmaster, vice president; and Noel Jones, secretary-treasurer.

AGRICULTURALISTS EXCLUSIVE

"Doing to learn and learning to do" is the motto of the Future Farmers of America.

This work in agriculture and F.F.A. qualifies the boys for entering the University of Nebraska agricultural college, farming, and farm work.

Beef, swine, dairy cattle, sheep, chickens, crops, and certified seeds are some of the projects carried by the boys during the year. In their new shop they learn skills such as acetylene welding, blue print reading, testing milk, metal lathe work, cement work, tool sharpening, and metal identification.

Selling cokes, picking corn, and other jobs were undertaken by the boys to raise funds for a tractor, which is for instructional purposes.

AQUA ARTISTS SUPERB

Penguins, through weekly drills, are following their purpose by promoting better swimming. The club is made up of fifteen senior high girls and fifteen junior high girls who have passed the requirements in try-outs.

Dreams of new suits came true when black lastex suits arrived for the Penguins. Many Penguins can be seen with shiny new medals which signify one year of active membership in the club.

The highlight of the year was the swimming review which was put on for the general public second semester. Several members of the club also traveled to Crete to see the Doane College swimming pageant.

Learning swimming formations, diving, and putting on programs were the Penguins. Heading this organization are Ardis Dappen, secretary; Laurel Stanton, vice-president; Joyce Bare, treasurer; Wilma Shirey, president.

THE PLAY'S

"To recognize and promote significant student achievement in any area of speech" is the object of the Masque and Gavel.

Highlights of the year were the plays "Lost Horizon" and "Tish," which were sponsored by the club.

Meeting once a month to discuss the business, this club was led by Joan Luschei and Sarah Bigsby.

Besides sponsoring the plays, this club also assumes the responsibility of the publicity, 1950 saw a new year, and also a new director. Under the direction of Harold Davis the band again proved itself worthy of recognition.

Kent Phillips and Ron Trombla elected by the members as first and second semester presidents respectively, proved themselves capable and efficient in the duties of their offices.

Traveling to Fremont, participating in Band Day at the University of Nebraska, and taking part in the Christmas parade were only a few of the activities to which these 72 members devoted their time.

Cooperation was needed and received at the 8:00 a. m. rehearsals which were held in order to perfect their entertaining halftime formations during the football season. Basketball season revealed the Northeast band members again combining their abilities by turning out and delivering their famous swingtime music.

These musicians displayed their talents thus completing another outstanding and successful year.

Many engagements were scheduled and successfully completed by this section of the music department under the direction of Harold Davis.

Looking in room 409 during fourth period one would have found this forty-eight piece orchestra busily practicing for vesper concerts, open house, graduation exercises and school play entertainments.

Participating with Columbus, Beatrice, Fairbury, and York, the Northeast orchestra traveled to Fairbury to display their talents at the Mid-East music festival which was held in March.

Practice, study and more practice—but definitely on the road to a musical career—these instrumental music students have organized in the effort to become the future advanced band and orchestra members.

When a vacancy occurs they are moved to advanced groups and repaid for their efforts.

Planning for the Christmas music program are orchestra officers, standing, left to right: Ronnie Becker, first semester property manager, second semester student director; Kent Phillips, first semester student director, second semester president; Bob Dappen, first semester president; Pete Powell, first semester librarian; Melvin Schwenk, second semester property manager; Harold Spicknall, second semester librarian. MUSIC HATH CHARMS

Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Velma Snook, has given many performances at school affairs. Among these were open houses, assemblies, and "In Old Saint Louis", the annual operetta. Because of the hard work and practicing that was done for the operetta, it was one of the best ever presented at Northeast.

In Mrs. Snook's absence Bill Bowmaster and Don McVey, first and second semester presidents, capably lead this group.

The appreciation and the love of good music and the ability to express it well were the constant aims of this vocal organization.

Choir

First row, left to right: C. Besse, R. Paul, B. Taylor, B. Hearn, D. Kipper, G. Null, C. Studnicka, G. Stephens, H. Amend, R. Alcorn, M. Pelican, J. Lowe, V. Sack, H. Gillispie, S. Cole.

Rehearsing in the music room for an assembly are the girls triple trio members, Caryl Besse, Francine Hillier, Teresa Kipper, Pat Babbitt, Norma Swartzleonard, Rita Lehr, Lorraine Barnhill, Libby Schleiger, Esther Niles, and Jannie Owens, accompanist.

WITH A SONG IN THE AIR

"A Pretty Girl is Like a Melody" . . . and nine pretty girls make up the triple trio of Northeast high school.

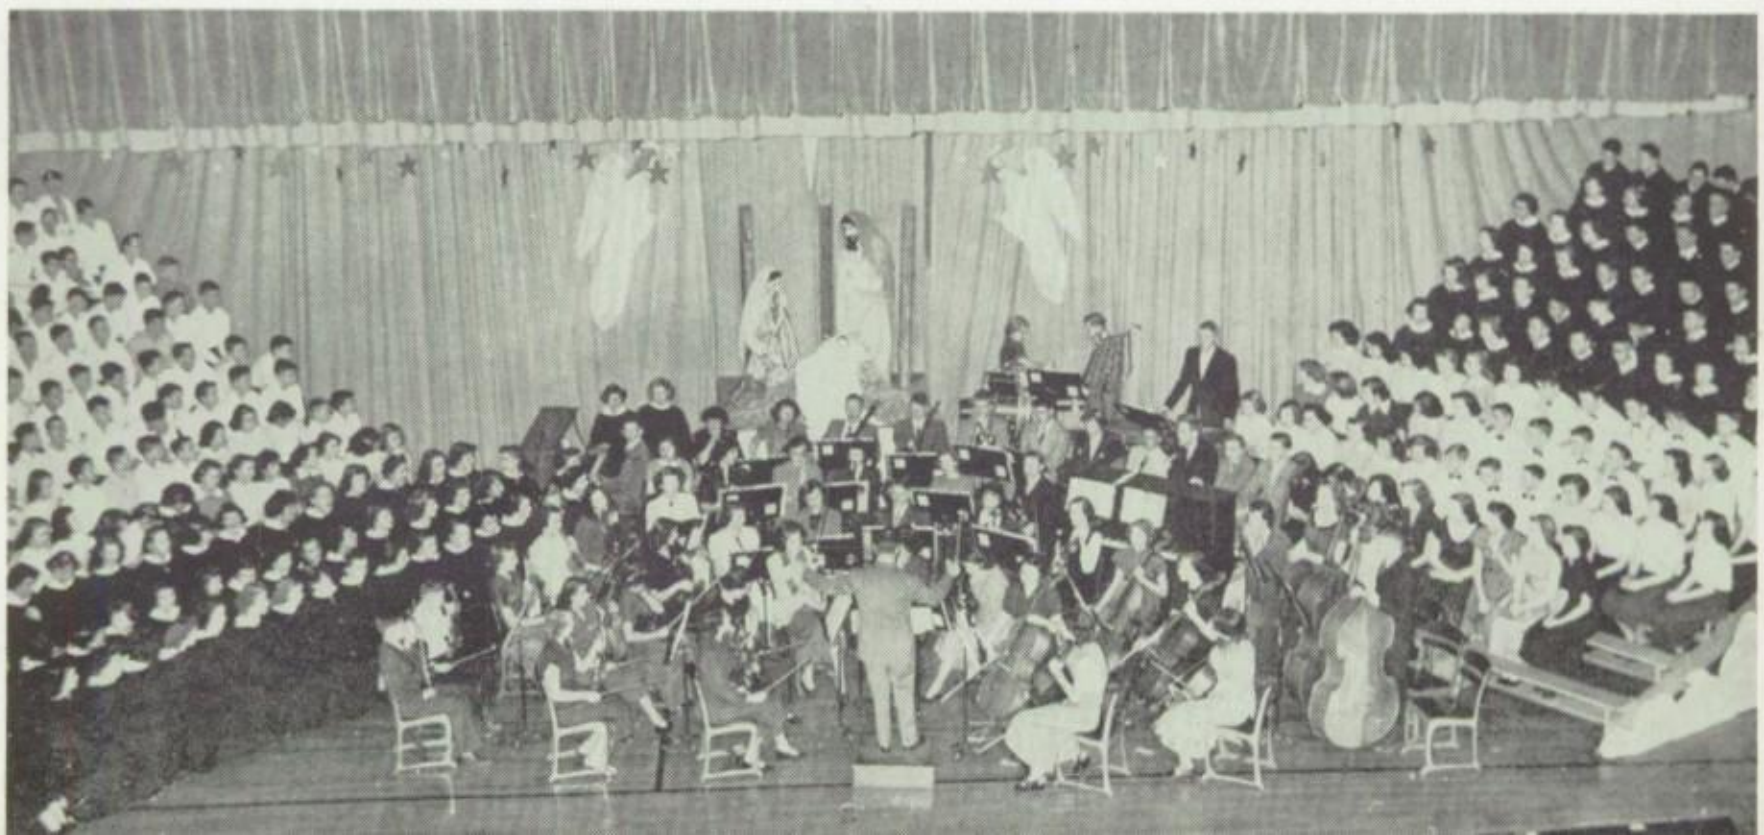
Singing for assemblies, banquets, luncheons, club meetings and other important social functions were some of the highlights of the year.

This department sold concessions at basketball games to help the choir pay for their robes.

They also took part in "In Old Saint Louis", the operetta held May 5 and 6, to climax their year of music.

The music department recognizes that individual personality takes precedence over mass activity in the field of music. This is especially recognized in the girls' small group.

Taking part in the 1949 Christmas program were the boys small group, girls small group, choir, ninth grade mixed chorus, eighth grade chorus, seventh grade chorus, and orchestra.



Girls Glee

MUSIC IN THE AIR

Requirements for joining the girls' vocal group are few. It is open to anyone who is interested in singing and there is no entrance voice test to pass. All girls are always welcome to join the group.

This group functioned actively the first and second semesters and sang at assemblies and in the Christmas program.

Many girls are chosen from this group upon the recommendation of the director Mrs. Velma Snook to be members of the mixed choir. Members of the choir are pupils from senior high.

Planning for one of the music assemblies in which the girls glee appeared are, left to right: Jo Mohler, first semester president; Christine Evans, first semester secretary-treasurer, second semester president; Phyllis Blackburn, first semester vice president; Ninette Quelvog, second semester vice president; and Joyce Dell, second semester secretary-treasurer.

RENDEZVOUS WITH HARMONY

A new addition to Northeast is the eight members who compose the boys small group under the helpful and untiring direction of Mrs. Velma Snook.

They have entertained for a number of school assemblies and also for the football banquet. They have taken an active part in singing for a Lions Club luncheon and for various organizations in the city.

1950 saw a newly organized ninth grade chorus directed by Mrs. Velma Snook.

CHEERING THEM ON

Kay Young
President

"More pep at Northeast high" is the motto which the Rockettes have endeavored to uphold in its nine years of service.

Fostering school spirit . . . serving Northeast at all times . . . promoting good sportsmanship . . . wearing the correct uniform . . . making bus trips to out of town games . . . shouting themselves hoarse for the school . . . presenting skits at pep rallies . . . planning the best football banquet ever at Cotner Terrace . . . throwing a party for the N club and football team as a result of losing the football banquet ticket selling contest . . . sponsoring the Turnabout dance . . . attending the annual Pep club-N club picnic are the activities of the Pep club.

This organization is composed of fifty-three members. It is made up of twenty-five seniors, fifteen juniors and eight sophomores plus honorary members.

The task of sponsoring this club falls to Mrs. Velma Snook and Mrs. Helen Krause. Among the hundred other little things they do for the club, they are obligated to give advice on all problems . . . to accompany the club on out of town trips . . . to supervise financial activities of the club . . . to attend each meeting . . . and to approve any action proposed by the club.

Those peppy fun-loving Rockettes cheered their team on to acquire their best football record in the history of the school and to the state basketball championship.

Second semester Pep club officers, Barbara Crowe, vice president; Anne Aggen, secretary; Kay Young, president; and Libby Schleiger, treasurer, are seen on their way to a meeting.

Beginning work two or three weeks before school opens and publishing eighteen regular issues and two extras makes a busy year for the Northeastern staff, All-American award winner.

Covering beats, planning the paper, dummying the pages, writing stories, copy reading, proof reading; these are only a few of the duties of the staff members.

Every other Wednesday is "Northeastern Day." The basketball championship issue and the April Fool edition were extras this year.

Under the helpful guidance of Mrs. Catherine Killeen, the staff had a very successful year.

First and second semester Northeastern officers are Lois Duer, first semester editor; LaVerne Holscher, second semester associate editor; Dick Nealy, first semester associate editor; Barbara Call, second semester editor; and Mrs. Catherine Killeen, adviser.

Beginning journalism officers are John Harper, first semester editor; Pat Matthews, second semester associate editor; Berne Rosenquist, second semester editor; and Mary Del Gudgel, first semester associate editor.

Most important to journalism students is learning the ways of a journalist, being exact, terse, and making stories interesting.

The thrill of going to the N.H.S.P.A. conference . . . making countless dummy sheets of each page . . . criticizing each other's journalistic abilities were some of the activities of beginning journalism students.

Students published two papers, the one following the Christmas edition and the presenior issue. With the help of adviser, Mrs. Catherine Killeen, the members had a successful year.

WEARERS OF THE N

The members of this organization consist of any boys who have been awarded the official athletic letter of Northeast high school. Active members are those who have been duly initiated.

It is the duty of each member to come to all meetings if possible, and to act in any capacity he is called on, to strive to the best of his ability to uphold the ideals of the club, and to keep his constituents informed of club activities.

Promoting high athletic standards and promoting good fellowship between the athletes of different sports and schools is the purpose of this club.

These lettermen led the way on cinders, court, gridiron, and in supporting roles as managers, through smooth rolling and hardships alike.

The officers of this organization consist of a president, vice president, secretary, and treasurer. These officers are elected at the last meeting preceding the semester they take office.

First semester found Tom Freet leading the club as president. Second semester Dale Lemon took over his duties and responsibilities, including conducting the business of the organization . . . representing the organization in accepting gifts and in such other cases as his presence is required.

Sponsoring the club, which takes work as well as time, were Bun Galloway, Ed Johnson, Lawrence Tepley, and Max Rezek.

EVER ONWARD

Style shows . . . conferences . . . bake sales . . . selling concessions . . . all highlighted the Y-Teen's schedule of work and fun in 1949-50. They presented a style show for all senior high girls and served free refreshments. The styles, modeled by members of Y-Teens, were from Hovland-Swanson. A hair styling show was presented by Miss Agnes.

Thirteen members of Y-Teens attended the Hi-Y and Y-Teen conference in Omaha, March 25. They were Pat Babbitt, Sarah Bigsby, Sallie Butler, Barbara Call, Shirley Heim, Jane Ann Lowe, Joan Luschei, Veda Plager, Virginia Sack, Brooks Schuelke, Georgia Squier, Jean Vejraska, and Phyllis Woods. Northeast was the best represented school in attendance. For members who made the trip tuitions were paid from the receipts of a bake sale held earlier in cooperation with the city-wide Y-Teens.

There are thirty-five members in this organization. It is sponsored by Mrs. Jane Bean and Mrs. Evelyn Lavaty, who shoulder most of the responsibility for the activities of this club.

Althea Blunn presided during the first semester, and Veda Plager, the second.

BEHIND THE BOOK

Behind these inked pages stands the staff that made them possible. Dummying pages . . . writing copy . . . taking pictures . . . selling annuals . . . working late into the night . . . are just a few of the Rocket staff's many jobs.

Each member of the staff has his own job to do and is responsible for it. The leaders of the staff, who generally supervise the construction and assembling of the 1950 annual are Shirley Heim, editor; Mary Ann Dickinson, managing editor; Caroline Ross, associate editor, and Mrs. Catherine Killeen, adviser.

Coach Galloway's gridders with the help of the new line coach Max Hester completed one of the most successful seasons in the school's history. The season ended with an eight victory, one loss record.

Practice opened here late in August. Spirits were high as the team eyed Beatrice. After playing ragged ball the team came home suffering from a 13 to 7 defeat.

The next assignment for the squad was Columbus. The Rocket charges improved and came out the victor by a score of 13 to 7. Fremont was the next victim of the Rockets. Late in the second quarter the Rockets recovered a Tiger fumble and seconds later crossed the double strip for a touchdown. The game ended with Northeast ahead 13 to 6.

The game of the season was ahead of the Northeast club. It looked as though Lincoln Central was ripe, ready to be picked from the city championship. The Rockets did that very thing as they took over the city championship, the first time in the school's history. Early in the game the Rockets grabbed a 7 to 0 lead. After recovering a Central fumble they tallied again, making the score 14 to 0. The Links tallied twice, one after a 77 yard kickoff return and the other on a blocked punt. The final score was 14 to 12, Northeast.

Hastings welcomed the Rockets only to be defeated in an important Mid-East conference tilt. The first half ended 7 to 0 in favor of Northeast. In the second half the score reached 14 to 0 before Tigers could rally. Final score was 14 to 6, Northeast.

The York Dukes faced the Rocket machine next. Leading 7 to 0 at the half the Rockets came back and handed the Dukes a 38 to 0 defeat.

Fairbury received a 32 to 0 defeat as the Rockets continued to roll.

Rough competition was put up by the Benson Bunnies. The Omahans allowed only one touchdown to the Rockets as they fell 7 to 0 to the Northeast crew.

An Indian summer afternoon and the Panthers from Norfolk made the black and white crew work to a 20 to 0 victory and the completion of the best season yet turned in by a Rocket eleven.

Talking over a very successful football season are coaches "Bun" Galloway and Max Hester.

Northeast 7	Nebraska City "B"	0
Northeast 21	Beatrice "B"	7
Northeast 20	Waverly	7
Northeast 45	Barnston	0
Northeast 7	Fremont "B"	0

The Northeast reserves under the direction of Coaches Max Rezek and Bob Spelts checked in with a winning schedule. It is not only the wins which they racked up that count but also the valuable game experience which will pay off in later action for the Rockets.

The junior Rocketmen completed a seven game schedule, winning six of the games and tying one. The tie came from the hands of Friend. Wins were racked up from Seward "B", Nebraska City "B", Beatrice "B", Waverly, Barnston, and Fremont "B".

Jim Gekas screens his man out of play while Leon Lehr gets ready for a hand-off from Paul Fredstrom in a victorious city cage game.

In a rough Grand Island tilt Rockets Paul Fredstrom, Jack Wood, Dale Lemon, and Jim Gekas are seen in a "battle royal."

The Rockets of Northeast successfully defended their state championship crown in 1950 by defeating Scottsbluff 36-31 in the finals, thus avenging an earlier season loss to the Bearcats.

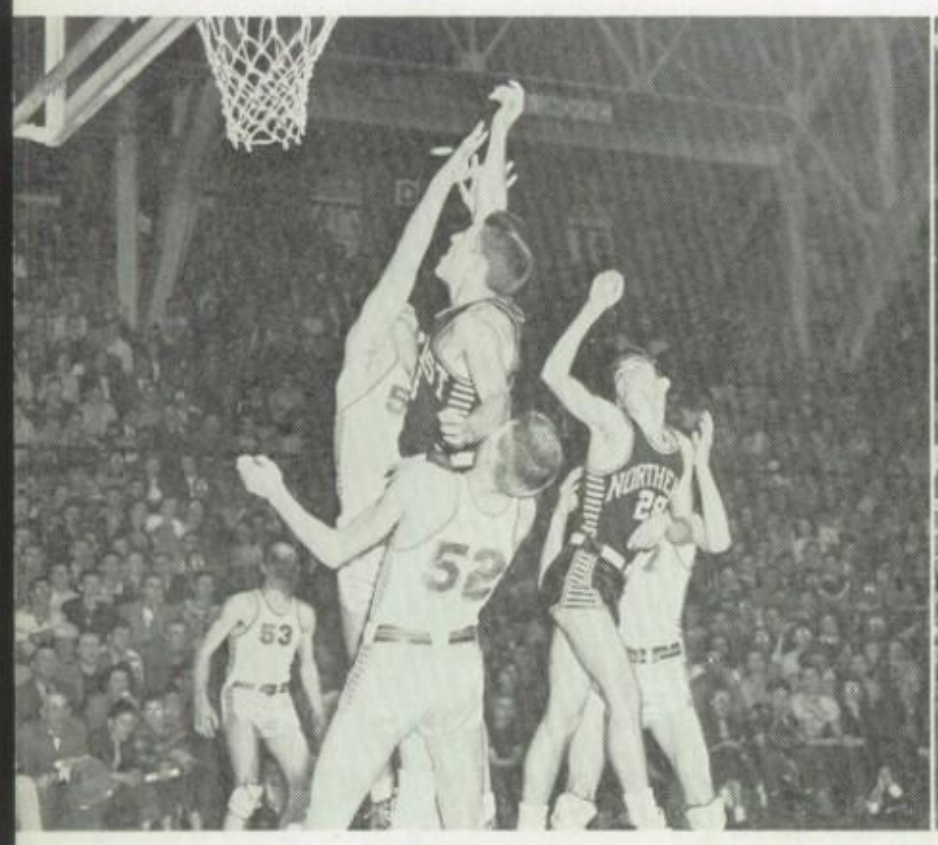
Under the guidance of their new cage mentor Ed Johnson, the Rockets compiled the best win and loss record of any Northeast team in history. The 1949-50 team won 19 and lost 1 and were the number one team in the state all season.

Ed's cagers captured the city title, the Mid East crown and their fourth straight district trophy in addition to the state crown.

Northeasts' 50 Rockets had the best offensive and defensive records in Northeast's history and garnered 991 points while limiting their opponents to 607.

The Rockets' first game was a setback to Scottsbluff 32-33, in a ragged game. From the second game on, the Rockets developed into the best team in the state, defeating every team that they encountered.

Jack Wood sinks a layup in state tournament action against North Platte. Dale Lemon, number 28, goes high into the air to grab a possible rebound.



Northeast defenders Jim Gekas, Jack Wood, and Gerald Bingham battle for a rebound in the state finals against Scottsbluff.

Rocket reserve center Dean Hutchins fights for the rebound in the Lincoln game with unidentified Lincoln players.

JUNIOR CAGEMEN

Despite his team's lack of experience, Max Rezek guided his reserves through a successful season with 10 wins out of a tough 13 game schedule.

They started with a win and won four out of five games from varsity teams and dropped only two out of eight games to reserve teams by close margins.

The reserves were fairly strong in both offense and defense. They averaged a little over 40 points a game and held the opposition to just 30 points a game.

Rezek's squad started slow and gained experience as the season wore on and they hit their peak in downing the Pleasant Dale and Dwight A teams, 59-20 and 60-35 respectively. This year's reserve team should provide next year's varsity squad with some valuable help and experience.

A PROBLEM?

● It's always quite a problem, when deciding what goes here and what goes where . . . but the solution seems near. With deadline approaching, Mary Ann Dickinson, Caroline Ross and Shirley Heim set about putting pictures and copy in shape, with the help of Ernie Weir of the Journal. Judging from the pages you've been turning, we're sure you'll agree that their answers to the 1950 Rocket problems were good ones.

Dear Carolyn,
Here's hoping you have lots of fun in your Junior and Senior years.
Love
Virginia Hudson

Dear "Sudey"
it's been fun
knowing you though this year, see you
next year, see ya
Good Luck May Cooper
'50

Dear Carolyn (Sudey), Don't murder me for the afterthought. This year's really been swell. All the classes, the new kids, and everything (maybe some of the new teachers). I hope you make pep club next year.
well. I'll see you this summer,
in 4-H work, and a junior.
But luck to a swell gal and friend.
Love,
Marlene

Dear Carolyn,
I haven't seen
you around very much this year but I guess I'll see you later, I'll be a Senior
next year.
Barbara Ballard

Dear Carolyn,
Be a good girl and
don't let people like me tell you any more jokes.
God bless you
Carolann
Franklin

Dear Carolyn,
What shall I write?
What shall it be?
Just two little words
Remember me.
Lovingly Yours
Beverly Wright

Dear Carolyn,
Don't forget
our English class
next year.
Love,
Virginia

Dear Carolyn,
Guess I'll
write some time
visit with you
We seem like country
Don't forget
our English class
next year.
Love,
Virginia

Dear Carolyn,
Well, I guess
I'll write
a few words
I just want to write you cause you better
remember me
Love,
Barbara Ballard

Dear Carolyn,
Well, I guess
I'll write
a few words
I just want to

Dear C.L.
Take it easy in your next two years at N.E. and have lots of fun.
Don McVey

Dear Carolyn—
We have had lots of fun in 4-H. Lots of luck to a wonderful friend—
Sara Whitlock

Dear Carolyn
Hope you have lots of fun this summer. Here's wishing you lots of luck. "52"
Dolores Banes

Remember all the fun we had in 308
Quail

Dear Carolyne,
I never figured out why they all call you Buckshot. You're a pretty swell gal and hope you'll always have a swell time and lots of good luck.
A class mate.
Virginia James

Dear Carolyne,
It has been nice knowing you this semester. Good luck always to a swell girl.
Dolores Dill

Dear Carolyn,
It sure was wonderful to meet you. ... swell person ... Remember the famous hat in Home Ec. (Hah!!) Lots of luck to a cute girl.
Alma ... "53"

Dear Carolyn,
Well, another year gone! Frankly, I'm looking forward to old "52", aren't you. Good luck! You're a nice kid!
Nella Stoneypher ('52)

Good luck to a sweet girl.
Don Burcham
"1952"

Dear Carolyn,
Be sure and not forget all the good times we've had in English. Parliamentary law, ugh!!! Best of luck in the next two years. I'll see you then.
Lois Knowles
"52"

Dear Carolyn,
It's been a lot of fun knowing you. I hope I see you around this summer.
Doris
